She viewed everything over again one evening, presents and those which were exchanges. There was just one thing among them that was not necessary and not particularly pretty. It was a gravy-dish. She knew of no particular use to which she could put it-she had one of the kind she really

She could not exchange it. It had a monogram in the center,

"I know what I'll do with it," she said to her husband. "I'll give it to Molly Stevens for a Christmas present. She has been so good to us and I'd like to show her how much I appreciate it.

"You know she is going to get married in the spring-that is-her engagement is all but announced.

"Don't you think it would be a good idea? She was so helpful about my wedding and she has told me, quite confidentially, that the wedding will be in the spring.

something for Christmas that she could have for her new home,

"We really can't afford to buy another thing just now and that will do beautifully."

"But the monogram?" her husband inquired.

"Oh, that can be taken off you know, and another one put there in its place. I heard some one ordering that to be done in one of the silver shops the other day."

"Yes, that's a splendid idea," her husband heartily agreed.

"I'll go down-town and attend to it tomorrow. I haven't much time. Christmas is almost here."

"Our first Christmas," said the young husband as he clasped his bride to him. "Our first Christmas," she murmured. The next evening he asked her if she had arranged about sending the gravy dish to Molly Stevens. "I couldn't send it," she said.

"Why not?" he queried. "Because of the monogram in the center," she said. "But you told me that that could be erased by the silversmiths and a new monogram placed there" her husband persisted. "I know I did," the young bride answered, "but you see they told me today at the shop that it would be possible to do it were it not for the fact that it had been done so often to this gravy dish that they wouldn't dare take a chance with it again. They'd not be able to avoid boring a hole this time! It has been given away once too often for me to put to any use," she sighed sadly,

"And I shall just send Molly a Christmas card. After all she did no more than any one else!"

IMPORTANT! While the remarkable health-building value of Mastin's VITAMON Tablets have been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, nervous troubles, anemia, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, they should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having their weight increased to normal. Decorating the Christmas Tree

OME on out and help build a fort, Johnny." "Can't-I'm busy," replied the boy standing in the door, "Come in and see what we're Billie came and found Johnny and his two sisters gathered around the library table, on which reposed many piles of tissue paper, bits of ribbon, walnut shells, paste, paints and shears. Ethel was sitting on the floor beside a large pan of popcorn, Helen was cutting gold stars over the waste basket, while Johnny yielded a brush full of gold paint. Taken all together, it was a scene full of delightful possibilities, Billie decided.

"You see," Helen explained hospitably, "we always decorate our own of new things this year. It's more fun to string popcorn and cranberries and gild walnuts and make butterflies than it is to buy 'em downtown. Ethel, you give Billie another needle and he can string cranberries. They're easiest to begin on.'

Have you children discovered yet that it is more fun to "make things" with your own hands than it is to buy them with money? If not, you have missed a lesson which every child should learn.

The tree decorations which Johnny and his sisters were making may be made by any child. First on the list comes popcorn and cranberries. These may be strung separately or alternately. If yellow field corn is soaked until softened, it may also be strung. A small tree was once trimmed with a lattice work of strung popcorn, covering all the top of the tree, with tiny red tissue bells at the end of each string.

Nearly every child has learned to make different kinds of paper chains. Packages of colored paper may be obtained at almost any printing office. These may be cut into short lengths,

When the ends are pasted together with one strip looped into the next, the "loop" chain is the result. This may be varied in many ways by joining other chains onto the original at various

The gold paint which Johnny was using was changing walnut shells into tiny glittering ornaments. A tiny hole bored in each and they were ready to be hung from the branches on bits of gilded wire. Small balls may be made from tinfoil or the tinfoil used to cover other ornaments.

A sheet of gold and one of silver paper present many possibilities. Stars may be cut from cardboard and covered with the paper. Match boxes may be covered with it and used to hold candy and nuts. Cornucoplas, produced by rolling one corner of an oblong piece of paper toward the opposite corner and pasting the edges together, may be cut from gilt paper or decorated with strips of it. These are very useful for holding popcoru, but are not strong enough for candy.

Tiny butterflies may rest on the topmost branches of the Christmas tree. Cut oblongs of colored tissue paper in various sizes, rounding the corners enough so they will give the appearance of wings. If the paper is thin, several pieces may be put together, crushed at the center, and black silk floss tied in two places so as to form the body of the butterfly.

As a finish for the top of the tree, a small doll may be garbed to represent Santa Claus. A few pieces from an old red flannel petticoat will produce the coat, trousers and cap; cotton batting the fur trimming; and an old kid glove will make the boots.

The lighting problem connected with a Christmas tree is always s serious one. Electric lights are always best, wherever possible. If candles are used, they should be placed securely on the tree and as far away from any decorations as possible. The tree should stand securely fastened in a box on a plece of canvas or old matting. The candles should not be lighted, except when the older members of the family are present to watch them .- Successful mains unchanged. citizens and residents of the United Alien non-residents are tax ed to the full 8 per cent on income emption of $1,000. To overcome the disparity in the amount of normal tax in the case of two taxpayers, one of whom is just within the lowe $2,000 exemption, the other being just within the higher $2 500 exemption the act provides that the reduc tion of the personal exemption from $2.50 to $2.000 shall not operate to increase the tax, which would be payable if the exemption were $2.500 by more than the net income in ex cess of $5,000. For example, a mar ried man or head of a family has a net income for 1921 of $5,010. Assum ing that he has no dependents, hi tax, if he were allowed only $2,000 exemption, would be $120.40. Under the benefits of the above pro vision however, his tax is $110, 4 per cent on the amount of his taxable in come of $2.500, or $100, plus the amount by which his net income exceeds $5,000.

Surtax Rates

Many inquiries are received relative to the surtax rates. Taxpayers in the preparation of their returns should be careful to note that the surtax rates for the calendar year 1921 remain unchanged The surtax rates on incomes for 1921 range from 1 per cent on the amount of net income between $5,000 and $6,000 to 65 per cent on the amount of net income in excess of $1,000 000, or the calendar year 1922 and each calendar year thereafter, the surtax ranges from 1 per cant on the amount of net income between $6,000 and $10,000 to 50 per cent by which the amount of net income ex ceeds $200,000.

Returns Required

Returns are required of every sit gle person whose net income for 192; was $1,000 or over, every married person not living with husband or wife whose net income was $1,000 and every married person living with husband or wife whose net incom was $2,000 or over. Every person whose gross income for the year was $5,000 or over must make a return regardless of the amount of net in This requirement was no contained in the revenue act of 1918 Every married couple living together must make a return, either separate or joint as desired, if their aggregate net income was $2.000 or over, or it their aggregate gross income was

$5 000 or more. Gross income includes practically every dollar the taxpayer received during the year 1921. Net income is greas income less the exemptions and deductions specifically provided for

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal, Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; they add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for broughtitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.
